Whether you refer to them as billbacks, chargebacks, rebates, ship and debits, or special pricing agreements (SPAs), chances are your company is experiencing decreased profitability due to inefficient processing of partner claims or inaccurate claim validations. Enhance cooperative marketing and market development fund activity

Co-op and MDF programs can help manufacturers boost partner engagement, but they can be complicated and difficult to manage, especially using spreadsheets. The solution can help you model, administer, report, and analyze highly complex rebate plans, including volume, growth, market share, and other multidimensional scenarios.

Manage tenders

For many businesses, tender management is an essential part of overall revenue forecasting, management, and measurement. Using the tender functionality of SAP Channel Program Management, you gain control over the tender and request-for-proposal (RFP) process from start to finish. Contracts and pricing are integrated with planning to formalize the RFP process.

To maintain a competitive advantage, you need comprehensive insights into how tenders have performed, access to and tracking of wins and losses, and forecasts of inventory levels when bids are considered.

As part of a well-structured tender management process, bids can be priced for profit or market penetration. When these are aligned with internal objectives and demand planning, you can improve on the results of previous tenders by reevaluating responses, retender for similar contracts, and standardize the bidding process.

Features and benefits of this functionality include the ability to:

- Set alerts for tender opportunities and provide transparency into planning
- Optimize tenders to fill your book of business and increase profits
- Report on decisions, tracking, and fulfillment and analyze lost opportunities
- Optimize planning with fulfillment forecasts, account for price adjustments, and validate delivery and manufacturing requirements
- Assess the impact of pricing and ancillary processes, including claims and rebates
- Perform “what-if” simulations and gross-to-net calculations

Determine pricing and margins that align with your pricing strategies.

Facilitate deal registration

A key aspect of selling is understanding your pipeline. In a direct and indirect model, pipeline visibility can be a challenge without visibility into opportunities in both channels. Furthermore, channel conflict can be avoided when partners and vendors are aligned on opportunities and can better collaborate to improve close rates and decrease sales cycle times.

Create clear visibility between you and your manufacturer, partner, and customer.

Deal registration using SAP Channel Program Management is a foundational aspect of pipeline visibility and establishing a clear relationship between manufacturer, partner, and customer. It helps manufacturers gain visibility into revenue forecasts through partner registration of sales opportunities. You can also tie incentives to stages of the sales cycle or opportunity elements, such as deal size or value versus volume products, to drive behavior that results in greater profitability and increased close rates.

What's more, when you consider tiered incentives and the impact of billbacks or SPAs, you can see the full picture – deal, partner, and customer value.

Features and benefits of this functionality include the ability to:

- Identify, formalize, and protect opportunities by registering prospects and deals
- Enable collaboration and increase transparency between account managers and distributors
- Set alerts for time-to-close periods and track negotiations, deal terms, and pricing impact
- Identify opportunities by status, customer, product, and more
- Attain a clear line of sight to ROI with deal tracking and full audit trails
- Use pricing, billback, and special pricing to determine true sales profitability

Track channels

Manufacturers need effective tools to manage inventory, associated claims, and rebates to and from channel partners. SAP Channel Program Management enables visibility into channel inventory by recording sales into the channel and capturing critical point-of-sale (POS) data from partners.

The solution's channel tracking functionality allows you to maintain inventory and track ownership as well as accrue and accurately recognize revenue. It helps you identify inventory on hand, anticipate potential stock-outs, and validate partner claims, reducing reporting inaccuracy and unnecessary business exposure. And with integrated serial number tracking, you can even perform validations at the serial number level.

You can manage multiple locations with detailed tracking that enhances supply chain management, insights from manufacturer to channel partner to customer, and activities across the channel sales process. And key reporting tools improve profitability by estimating the impact of price drops based on inventory levels as well as providing in-depth, real-time views into key partners.

Keep your trade and channel programs under tight control and maximize performance.

Features and benefits of this functionality include the ability to:

- Use inventory pools to validate claim pricing and quantities for accuracy
